

Lifestyle » House & home

LIFESTYLE

Summary

With clean lines and simple form, this table from Roche Bobois's new collection typifies the designer Mauro Lipparini's natural minimalist style.

Share this article:

 Save this article

YOUR OPINION | POLL RESULTS

A sheep has died after jumping from a five-storey building to escape a home slaughter attempt. Do you slaughter your own animals at home?

- We use a government-operated slaughterhouse
- A family member slaughters the animals at home
- We use a licensed butcher
- We use a butcher but don't think he's licensed

View results or

Wish list: Roche Bobois bedside table

Helen McLaughlin

Feb 9, 2011

Elegant and uncomplicated, this bedside table with integrated reading light is one of the highlights of the new season collection by Roche Bobois, previewed this week. Completing the Echoes line by the Italian architect and designer Mauro Lipparini, a pioneer of the movement known as natural minimalism, it is a typical example of his signature style of clean lines and simple form.

Crafted from solid ash warmed by a walnut stain, the table features a gently angled design that means it leans in to the bed, presenting its function and light to you. The light's wires are all entirely concealed and the lower tier shelf is perfect for tucking away your bedside books so the top tier is kept clean, thus maximising its uncluttered appeal.

The Roche Bobois Spring/Summer collection goes on sale this month and also includes a collection by the French fashion designer Sonia Rykiel.

Echoes bedside table with light, Dh9,250 at Roche Bobois, Al Barsha First, Sheikh

HOUSE & HOME

Step inside a sneak peek at an all-Versace interior

Time for UAE gardeners to think beyond plants

Under Tent London, a modern fairy tale unfolds

Six of the Best: Natural woods add a touch of warmth

Designer Living: Lee Broom gets inspired by the 1930s

Indian antiques on display at Antika Dubai

SOUND & VISION

