

interiors®

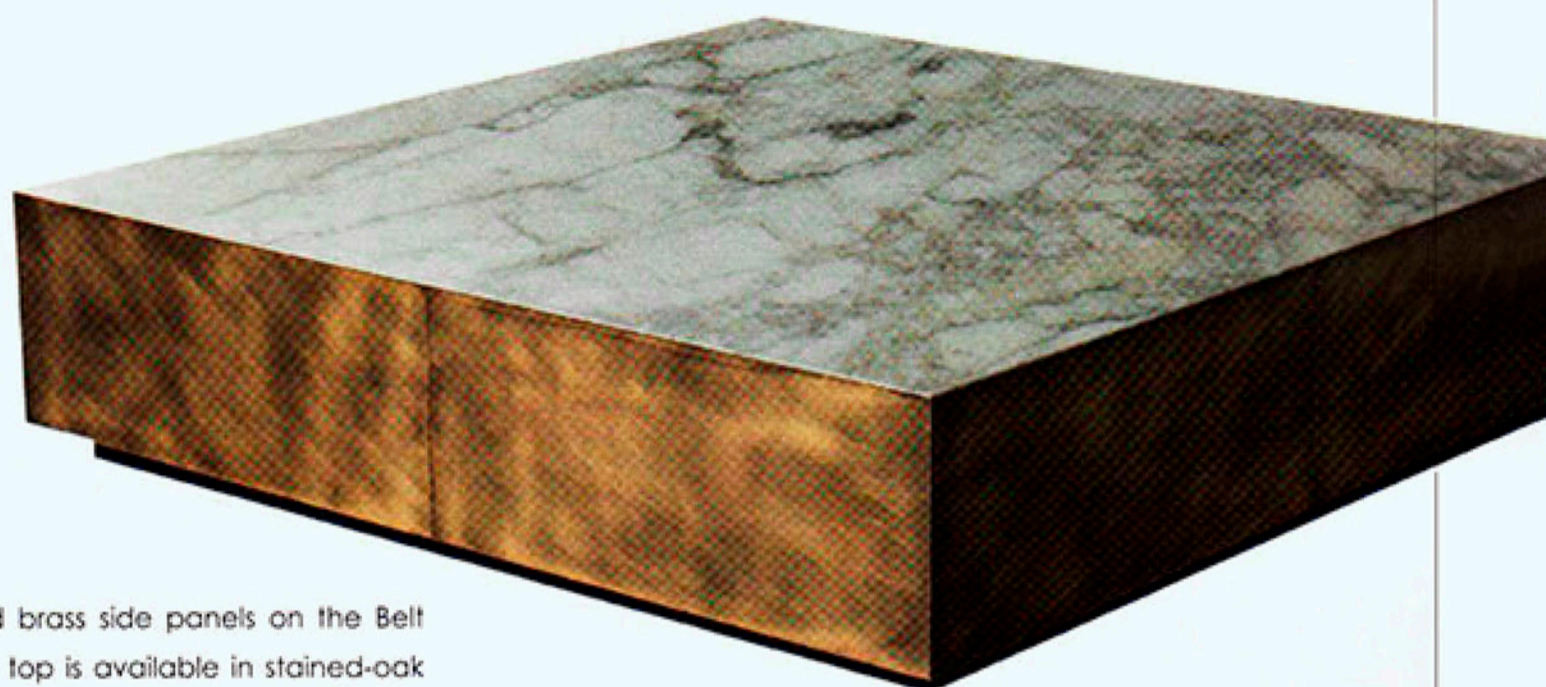

In 1958 near Bologna, brothers Pompeo and Vittorio Cavalli founded IPE, which has exhibited at every Salone del Mobile since its inception in 1961. IPE launched the furniture brand Visionnaire in 2005, and in just over a decade, the family-run company has grown to produce 2,500 products and employ their 360-degree design solution for exclusive residential and contract projects, yachts and private jets.

"With a touch of pride we can say that Visionnaire, launched by my family, changed the idea of 'Made in Italy' design production processes, and expanded stylistic horizons," says Eleonore Cavalli, Visionnaire's art director. "Visionnaire takes an alternative approach to the idea of interior design, offering a 'total concept' solution, creating customized interiors to fit each customer's personal needs, style and taste."

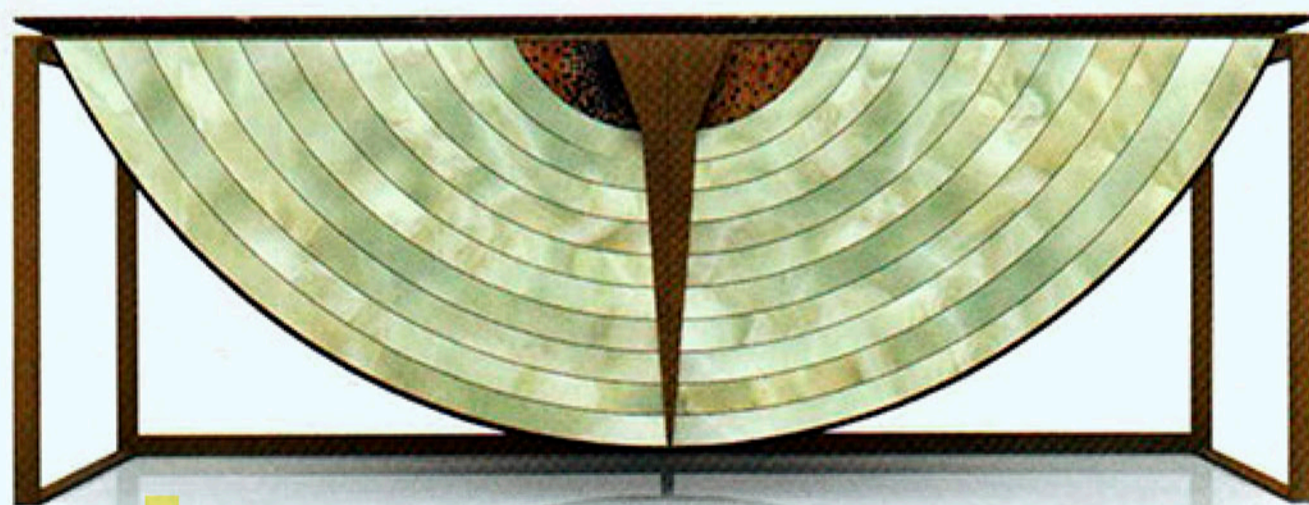

Collaboration is integral to Visionnaire, evidenced by partnerships with internationally acclaimed Hong Kong architect Steve Leung, with whom Visionnaire expanded the Nature's Jewel Box collection; longtime collaborator and iconic Italian interior designer Alessandro La Spada, with whom they created a line that reflects a Western lifestyle with a metropolitan feel; Samuele Mazza, who reimagined Visionnaire's artistry and their clients' evolution of taste; and Mauro Lipparini, an Italian architect whose designs are informed by Japanese sensibilities.

"Passion and enthusiasm have always characterized our company," says Cavalli. "The aim is to create different atmospheres, taking care of every aspect of a project, from the living room to the landscaping, with no limitations and no boundaries." ■ visionnaire-home.com

A wood frame holds bronzed brass side panels on the Belt low table from Meridiani. The top is available in stained-oak veneer, pre-composite wood veneer, lacquer, glass or marble. Meridiani's products are all manufactured in Italy and are delivered with a 100-percent Made-in-Italy certification. "Meridiani is timeless and without frills," says Paolo Boffi of Meridiani USA. meridiani.it

The Basin console table, on a satin stainless-steel base in a chrome, gold, bronze, champagne or black nickel finish, was designed by Mauro Lipparini for Visionnaire. Each handcrafted piece goes through a rigorous engineering process inside the maison's style and design department. visionnaire-home.com