To-Do List

Textile designer Jan Constantine talks us through her latest home project

We renovated our Georgian Cheshire home on a shoestring budget after buying it at auction years ago, and I'm now updating the bathroom. I've been looking at a bateau bath in copper or inky blue, and I'd also love some small checkerboard Victorian floor tiles in deep blue and white.

Collector's Item

This year marks 270 years since ceramics manufacturer Villeroy & Boch was founded in Audun-le-Tiche, north-eastern France.

To mark this special birthday, the company has released a new collection of contemporary designs. Inspired by ancient Chinese vases and Delft pottery, the elegant pieces effortlessly blend old and new. Prices start from £17.48 for a teacup and saucer.

SIDE BY SIDE

Although Loaf is mostly known for its deliciously squishy velvet sofas and chic cushioned headboards, its latest collection is packed with beautifully detailed wooden furniture and cabinetry. The mid-century finish on the pale wood Grand Orinoco sideboard is wonderfully tactile. It's available online and in store for £845.

Antique of the Future

HOT SEAT

A timeless balance of aesthetics and comfort, the new Onsa chair from heritage brand Walter Knoll is a design classic of the future. Created by leading Italian designer

Mauro Lipparini in his debut for Walter Knoll, the chair is based on the idea of a flower opening in the sunshine, and has soft and supple leather that cradles the body as you sit. The chair is available in a range of fabrics and prices start from £4,222.
